ABOUT THE ATOMIC ROOT • Original Story based on the atomic root (known as the "research data") from the research lab of the atomic plant of Avanti and the events surrounding it. • Furthermore, an entirely new world and its own special fantasy setting is added. • The world of the Lands Between where you are now, a world that has always felt strange to the hearts of those born there, has been given a new setting. • The whimsical and playful worlds of the Lands Between that are full of enticing encounters and are the environments in which fantasy should be imagined are suddenly brought back to life.

ABOUT THE BLACK KNIGHT • The Black Knight is known as a large, fierce-looking knight who travels alone across the Lands Between. • Since the path of the Black Knight's journey is full of monsters, he rarely ever tells his own story, and most of what is told about him only gives information about the lands in which he travels. • The Black Knight is known as a complete loner, and has a strong obsession with the word "Fragile." • Even though, as a self-proclaimed knight, he has fought a variety of monsters, he is nowhere near as formidable as he looks. • Although he is completely capable of taking on a monster with a single blow of his mighty sword, he is filled with a deep sorrow. • The path of his journey, in which he is always defeated in battle, has since become his personal hell, and he does not know how to escape. • In order to save the lands of the Lands Between,

Solutions for matrix rank over finite fields A matrix $A \in \text{Mat}_m(\mathbb{F}_2)$ has rank r over \mathbb{F}_2 if and only if there is a $B \in \text{Mat}_m(\mathbb{F}_2)$ such that $A \cdot B = I_n$. Are there known conjectures or results about the number of rank r matrices over \mathbb{F}_2 ? A: One can reduce a given matrix of rank r over \mathbb{F}_2 to a matrix in $\mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)}$ by computing the Smith normal form of the matrix. So the question becomes what are the number of matrices of rank $0, 1,$ and 2 for the following statements: $\mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)} = \mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r+1)}$ if $r > 0$ $\mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)} = \mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r+1)}$ if $r = 0$ $\mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)} = \mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)}$ if $r > 2$ $\mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)} = \mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r+1)}$ if $r = 1$ $\mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)} = \mathbb{F}_2^{m \times (n-r)}$ if $r = 2$ An answer to this question should come from looking at the results

A series of stereoscopic images are sensed by a so-called stereoscopic photographing apparatus, and a stereoscopic image is produced by presenting the images in a form suitable for a stereoscopic vision so that stereoscopic effect is realized when the images are viewed. Conventionally, for the stereoscopic photographing apparatus, a method is known, for example, in which two cameras are disposed so as to cross vertically one another, images taken by the cameras are synthesized into a single frame by a motion-compensating circuit, and are displayed in a form suitable for a stereoscopic vision by an image processing circuit (See JP-A-8-36116). In the conventional stereoscopic photographing apparatus, however, a stereoscopic image is displayed in a form suitable for a stereoscopic vision. Consequently, a good stereoscopic image cannot be obtained in some cases, particularly in the case where the left and right images of a subject to be photographed are to be displayed in a superimposed relationship. For example, in the case where a pair of people in a ballroom dance are to be stereoscopically photographed, if a pair of left and right images of the people are displayed in a superimposed relationship in a stereoscopic manner on a television display, the display screen tends to be cluttered with the images of the people, thereby making it difficult to have a sufficient stereoscopic effect. In the case where a pair of children on a playground are to be stereoscopically photographed, if a pair of left and right images of the children are displayed in a superimposed relationship on a television display, the display screen tends to become cluttered with the images of the children, thereby making it difficult to appreciate the stereoscopic effect. Meanwhile, a method is also known, in which images to be displayed are produced from a single image which is sensed by a camera disposed in the
