you[The effects of cantharidin on the vascular endothelial growth factor/VEGF receptor 2 system in the gingival tissues of experimental periodontitis rats]. To investigate the effects of cantharidin on the VEGF/VEGF receptor 2 system in the gingival tissues of experimental periodontitis rats. Thirty 4-week-old male Wistar rats were randomly divided into 3 groups (n = 10): the experimental periodontitis group (group A), the daily treatment group (group B) and the blank control group (group C). Gingival tissues of the distal end of the left lower first molar were harvested and fixed in liquid nitrogen for cryostat section, and immunohistochemical assay and ELISA were used to examine the changes of VEGF and VEGF receptor 2 in the gingival tissues of experimental periodontitis rats after treatment with cantharidin. The mRNA expression of VEGF was detected by reverse transcription-polymerase chain reaction (
